So much more than mushrooms

Don't be fooled by the name. The Mushroom Pot is more than what its name suggests. Head down to the restaurant and experience some of the best in Chinese fusion cuisine.

Head on down to The Mushroom Pot this holiday season and enjoy its tantalising nine-course feast for this festive season. Mushrooms aside, this specially designed menu that is on offer until January 2005 includes signature dishes such as the Beef Paper Steamboat which consists of premium sliced beef with assorted mushrooms in a delicious mushroom broth, Cod Fish Steak, Szechuan-style Salt and Pepper Prawns as well as Stir-Fried Glutinous Rice Cakes, just to name a few. Tuck into the delicious nine-course feast at only $23.80++ per person.

The restaurant's a la carte and signature dishes leave you wanting for more. Combining different cuisine styles and ingredients, the chefs at The Mushroom Pot have also created an eclectic mix of inventive Chinese cuisine involving noodles, hot plates and paper steamboats.

Some of The Mushroom Pot's signature dishes include the Cha Shao Tang Mian - home-style roast pork and fresh noodles served with authentic wild mushroom soup. Those more adventurous can try their Tibet Ribs - premium ribs prepared with a blend of fruit juices or tuck into some Crispy Squid with Wasabi sauce.

Needless to say, if you have a long-standing love affair with mushrooms of all kinds, then this is definitely the place for you. Featuring over 20 different types of wild and imported mushrooms, the restaurant is the first of its kind in Singapore to indulge in these tasty morsels.

The Mushroom Pot is located at 2 Stadium Walk, #01-02 Singapore Indoor Stadium (Tel: 6342 3320) and at Orchard Point Level 4 (Tel: 6733 9910). For more information, visit www.mushroompot.com
